

The FCC should not implement any proposal that would lessen Indiana's Telephone Privacy law protections. Indiana's Telephone Privacy law has improved my time at home. Whereas I use to receive as many as 3 or 4 calls per day, I now receive only occasional calls. I have just returned from Florida and visiting my father-in-law. He received as many as 6-10 calls daily while I was there. He could not even take a nap in the afternoon without at least 2 calls during his nap. He is faced with either taking his phone off the hook, or not getting the nap he needs at the age of 88. I truly hope that you will not do anything to lessen our Indiana Telephone Privacy law protections!
